NORTH MINSOURY.

The leniency of General Hurlbut, in letting the people of Palmyrs off "for this once," has been followed by a greater impunity of the miscreants along the Hannibal & St. Joseph railroad, and communication, by train or telegraph, is again supended. Trouble is expected at Hannibal, and how far the malady extends into the country it is impossible to say. More troops will have to be quartered upon the citizens, and more levies made for damers and these just penalties, we are assured, will be exacted to the uttermost. The law is only valuable when its decrees are certain.

[From the London News, Aug. 11.]

If any muconstimitional acts are hereafter called up for review in Congress, it will be for Congress to decide whether blame is imputable to anybody; and if so, to whom. It is avowed on all hands that the Constitution has not provided for such a crisis as is now to be ble to saybody; and if so, to whom. It is avowed on all hands that the Constitution has not provided for such a crist as is now to be dealt with. The slave distate did not adopt the means constitutionally provided for expressing their discontents, and obtaining any changes they desired, and they left the loyal part of the nation no choice but to defend the Republic by the heat mothods which offered, under due notice that the proceedings would be reviewed hereafter, and provision made for future occasions. Congress has lost no time in giving a provisional sanction to the acts of the Executive; and for anyhody class to set up a demand for a pediantic adherence to constitutional fastractions while the Confederates were marching to selve Washington, is an impertinence which the strictest members of political society can only laugh at. It is a creat evil, of course, that there should be any departure whatever from any constitutional provision; but the biam's rest—not on the stational frantse to whem the server or the Republic is confided—but on the secoders who ignored every provision reste—not on the National Trustee to whom the settly of the Republic is confided—but on the secoders who knowed every provision of a National Courted, and a Supreme Count, and fired on the National forts, and marched on the National Coprala before the new President had any means at his disposal for encountering them.

It is not true that the President has ever talked of the "trepressible conflict," which the Times follows Mr. Vallandigham in putting into his mouth, as well as Mr. Seward's. The two words are Mr. Seward's, but the rest of the phrase is not his—nor ampbody's. Mr. Seward did not say that there was, or is, or will be, an irrepressible conflict between the Principles of government in a shaveholding ration and one in which the laborem are citizens. The difference is all-important; and whatever may be the discontent with Mr. Seward on all hands, he must not be sub ect to the injustice of boing made answerable for words which he never uttered. The coupling Mr. Lincoln with him is a more attifice, as nobody knows better than Mr. Vallandigham.

Such are the devices by which the first serious misfortune sustained by the champloy-of law and freedom is made use of to discapili-their representatives and to damage their cause. In an assemblage like the Aderican Congress there must be an obstructive men

Cotton can be cultrrated without slow la-bor, and slavery can exist independently of cotton. Abolish the growth of cotton in the Southern States, and the slaves would be employed in the next most profitable pursuit. While there was any business remaining from which the masters could derive a livelihood, the slaves would be bondage. The slaves of Missians of the times; and the people, deluded by the supposed necessities of the situation of the slaves of Missians of the times; and the people, deluded by the supposed necessities of the situation of the slaves of Missians of the slaves be kept in bondage. The slaves of Mis-sburi, Kentucky, Maryland and Virginia sburi, Kentucky, Maryland and Virginia sburi, will some day crowd them more hopeless-will some day crowd them more hopelesssaters exhibit no intention to free them. nere would be hundreds of thousands of ondinen in our State to day, employed as necessary to the cultivation of an acre of the soil of America. Negroes are probably Pay will effect more than punishect is exactly like the white man's. His bump of acquisitiveness is just as sus-ceptible to the magic influences of the Alghty dollar as the Caucassian's. The ost effectual spur to move him to action,

On some of the most profitable plantations in the South the proprietors give the negroes a share of the crops. Where this whip is useless, and the overseer's office nes a sinecura. The slave feels a personal interest in the season's products. He is more economical, steady and industri-ous, as on his faithfulness depends his profits. It is false to assert that cotton ated if contract were substituted for compulsory labor. Pay the colored man for his work, and the industry of the South would not suffer, nor the value of property depreciate. The aggregate products of the country would be enhanced, and its peace nd security infinitely promoted.

Abolish cotton, and the cause of the war ched; but remove slavery, and the away from the South, and the product of cotton, rice and sugar would be greatly diminished, though by no means destroyed. The four million bales might shrink to and the staples of that section would con-tinue abundant. The stimulus of wages slanding. There is no more justice or necessity for enslaving the blacks and mulations to raise cotton and rice in the South, than there would be in enslaving the Germans and Irish to cultivate wheat and large in the North. The moral wrong of

There is no more justice or macessity for enabaring the blacks and my lattoes to raise cotton and rice in the South, when the six out of the in the South, when the six out of the in the South, when the six of the South Personal Worner of seasons and Lirish to cultivate wheat and corr in the North. The mored wrong of seasoning a man of one complexion is no greater than of enabaring a man of one complexion is no greater than of enabaring a man of one complexion is no the season of the season. The laborer is wearhy of this intermediate, and the season of the season of the langer to the lang

That the buying and selling of men and women who labor, induces in all cases a contempt for the rights and feelings of all the laboring classes, without regard to mationality and color, is a fact that has often been the subject of indignant comment. It lies, as any man of philosophic analysis would be able to prove, at the yeary root of this monatrous reballon. The aristocracy of the South do not hate the people of the North because they have received injuries at their hands; they have not rebelled, apprehending an encroachment upon their rights, because two of the three branches of the Government were in their hands. No, they will not be governed by what they call mad sills; they will not submit to Lincoln, because he has risen from a humble station, and is yet a plain and unprotending man; they will not yield obedimore to the majority, because the majority of that laboring class which they hate.

To had occasion lately to comment on means speech of Gov. Brown, of Goston, to white the truth of what we state is indirectly comboard by the speaker in advanced to prevent any farther in the has fallow compirates in introduced to prevent any farther in the indirectly comboard by the speaker in advanced to prevent any farther in the has fallow compirates in directly comboard by the speaker in advanced to prevent any farther in the has fallow compirates.

This kind of reasoning is barely one remove above the chattering of idiocy. If slavery is accordary to cotton is not cotton secondary to the soil? Abolish the earth and above carb is secondary to the soil? Abolish the earth and above will be neither earth, cotton, nor slavery. If cotton is to blame for the war because it supports slavery, is not the earth still more to blame for the war because it supports slavery, is not the earth still more to blame for supporting cotton. The absurdity of the logic in the above extract must be apparent to the feeblest understanding.

It is not true that the existence of slavery in the South, depends upon cotton or sugar. Nor is it true that the growth of of any Southern product depends upon slavery—save one, and that is, melatics. Cotton can be cultivated without slove her, and slavery can exist independently of cotton. Abolish the data for the same for a long period, say heenty-one "spors, and the most popular heanch of the Judiciary absolutely independent for in for ille or good behavior." The Richmond Examiner is not an inch behind in the race of the journals towards despot-ins, and in every part of the South land in where secession has overcome all and the country of cotton of legitimacy, this cropping out of the logic many southern product depends upon slavery—save one, and that is, melatics. of legitimacy, this cropping out of the aristocratic sentiment—this disgust with Democracy as a governing principle—this lenging for the lities and trappings of no-

We have, then, in view of these facts, not only a duty to perform in the mainte-nance of the Union as our fathers made it, bondman in our State to day, employed as servants and mechanics in the towns and as field hands on the farms. Slaves are not recovered to the cultivation of an acre of

The Female Spies at Washington, our own.

The Female Spies at Washington, The Legant "ladies" who have been are rested at Washington and sof the laster manage to labor in fields in the most tropical States, in our Union, Substitute cash for the lash and the negroes of the South will work harder and more faithfully than they can possibly be made to do, by coercion. One of the strongest of human stimulants is cages.

Pay will effect more than punishment. The negroes nature in this re. already too long, and their petticoats will shield them no longer from richly merited punishment. There are blatant females else-where than in Washington who may as well take warning.

We see it stated that Mrs. Greenhow is an aunt of Mrs. Senator Douglas. Her husband was for twenty years connected with the State was for twenty years connected with the state Department as Librarian and Translator, and was accidentally killed while serving the California Commission in 1855. The charge against her is of maintaining treasonable correspondence with the enemy. The charge against Mrs Phillips (of Alabama) and her two daughters is the same, but intensified in their case by their offensive way in manifesting armostic with the South in presence of ing sympathy with the South, in presence of general Society.

Explosion of Cannon Primers in an sae, for a time. But take slavery away from the South, leaving the negro behind, of cannon primers on its way from New York, by appreced that the same of the same and the staples of that section would continue abundant. The stimulus of wages would keep the freed blacks at work. The experience of Maryland and Delaware, as well as the British and French West Indies, fully proves this assertion true—proglavery slanders to the contrary notwith and the fourth was James Batchelor, Govern-ment Inspector, who had just been through the car looking for "contraband" articles. R. W. Barnwell, Jr., of South Carolina, in a letter from Chariotteaville, Virginia, dated August 18, to the President of the Yeung Meu's Caristian Association of Charleston, thanking him for contributions of hospital stores, remarks:

"Our weekly report, which will appear in a day or so in the Charleston papers, will show how great is the necessity for these supplies, and let me say to you what I cannot in the papers—they are not half enough to meet the demand. The destitution of our army in food and clothing is terrible. Many applications are made to us by self men who wish to escape sickness by an extra pair of drawers, or socks, or undershirt, a package of arrowroot, or jur of pickles.

"It will require every nerve to be strained by you at home and ourselves here to ineet the exigencies of the Fall and Winter, should the war last so long."

A Story of Gen. McClellan. The Washington correspondent of the Phil-adelphia Inquirer tells this story of General McClellan. It may be true:

adelphia Impuirer tells this story of General McChellan. It may be true:

"General McChellan is in the habit of riding around occasionally in citizan's dress, accompanied by a few of his staff. A few days ago he was walking through one of the seasangments, across the Potomac, and passing the rear he saw a bucket of coffee standing near a fire. He asked what it was, and one of the soldiers, and the soldier, it is not fit to drink, but we have to put up with it, and our other food is not a bit better. Well, whose fault is it? he asked. 'Oh, our Quartermaster is drunk most of the time, and when he is not he is studying how to cheat.' McChillan passed on, and seeing more evidence of the dirty and slovenly manner in which the Quartermaster conducted his operations in his tent, he accosted him with the remerk that his men were complaining of bad treat ment from him. The Quartermaster flaw into a passion, and sworm it was none of his business, and he had better not come sneading around trying to make mischief. McClishan sawered him, telling him he had better be cautious how he talked. Quartermaster replied, 'Who are you, that you assume so much apparent authority?' 'I am George B. McClishan, and you can pack up your traps and leave!' The Quartermaster was struck dumb, and McClishan turned and left him. That evening the Quartermaster if to the tune of the Bogue's March, jusyed by some of the boys who had got wind of it. They down have a Quartermaster who does not 'got drapk and cheat,' and that regiment would day avenge the outrages perpetrated against our liberties.

DEFENCE OF BOSTON.—We are gratified to learn that Captain Rodman, U. S. A., the superintendent of the arsenal at Weigertown, has been very efficient in seconding the efforts of Mayor Wightman in placing suitable arms ments upon the fortifications in Boston harbor. One hundred and twenty-six guns of the largest-calibre are to be placed on the three forts. Fifty of these have been mounted under the directions of Capt. Rodmon, and are now ready for Service. Most of the others are to be fournished from West Point, and will be forwarded to Boston as soon as possible.—Boston Transcript.

THE KENTUCKY LEGINLAWORE.—We learn from the Frankfort Commonwealth that the returns are all in, and show that the Union party has seventy-six members of the House of Representatives, counting Lindsey, of Carrell, who is claimed by both porties. At any rate, the Union party will have a majority of fifty in the House—Just half the members. The Seasts will stand 37 Union to 11 Secessionist. Ten of the Secessionists hold over, which seconds for having so many of them in this Legislature.

that of a sewing machine, and Slost & Co. employed him to improve sewing machine needtes, for which they received the patent and emoluments. He siterwards went to the Crimes, in the employ of the Russian government, and managed for some time the application of infernal machines of his own contribute, every acarly blowing up a number of war vessels, and afterwards assisting to raise the submerged ships from the decks at Sebatopol. There he led a ragabond life, endeavoring without anceas to press his inventions nipon most of the European governments, and, returning home, engaged in the business of electrotyping for Railry & Kitchen, jewelers, and returning home, engaged in the business of electrotyping for Railry & Kitchen, jewelers, when the great tunnels on the Reading Railroad were about being extended, Eaken applied galvanism to bissting the wold rock, and thus completed the work in unexampled time by one hundred and fifty dicharges and upwards per minute. He made improved cannon and shill afterward, impoveriabing himself in framing models, and endeavoring, without success, to make them available for government. When the war broke out he applied far a mechanical position to the Secretary of War; but the Cabinet had not the time to hearken to his engagestions, and, having received tempting offers from the South, he was compelled, for bread and dwelling, to relinquish ingratitude at home and serve the ensures of his country at Richmond. The tunds in his possession attest how well he was rewarded. He remained in Richmond three weeks, systematized the business of the Armory at that place (a time-table of which was found in his trunk;) and returned to Philadelphia a few weeks ago to buy material and get a force of mechanics, his behavior in town—confedering the circumstances—was child-like; for he made no secret of his intentions, and seemed indifferent to the aims and ends of the beliggeraris, so his own mechanism was put to use and rewarded. Marshal John W. Starkey heard of him in this manner and entrapped him b The Latest from Missouri.

Lexinoros, Mo., Aug. 29.—The robels, encouraged by exaggerated reports of the battle near Syrinefield, are congregating in large numbers in this and surrounding counties, and committing all kinds of outrages upon Union men and their property. If they are allowed to ovarum Lahgette, Ray, and other such counties in this part of the Susie, as they are now doing, they will steal enough from Union men to ashaist their army for morths. In view of this condition of things, assistance has been asked of General Fremons.

The Home Guards still occupy the fortification here, and are well supplied with arms and provisions, and can probably hold the place; but reinforcements are needed to operate segulast parties engaged in ravaging the country.

Prominent Union men are daily threatened with death Ex-Governor King, of Ray county, has been frequently warned, but his devotion to the Union cause was unshaken, and he and his some are ready to shoulder their muskels.

The GREAT EASTREM.—Thad, Hyatt, a passager out. In the Great Eastern, writes his experience on board that vessel, on the voyage down the St. Lawrence. He had may hardships, but the hardest was the impossibility of procuring anything to eat, drink, or inwardly digest. The following is a leaf from his disry:

I have just returned from a valuation of the procuring anything to eat, drink, or get a dinace. A "fresh-man" with two ladies protested that heat night he bad secured easts at that identical lable and at that identical able and at that identical able and at that identical able and at that identical spot. I preferred to do without dinner than to either argue the point, get out of temper, or go into the second class dining room, and although I was so faint that my legs trembled under me, I very placifily retired. Fortunately for me I purchased a pound of sods biscutifut at I was going on board. These with a couple of pounds of angar and a bottle of Ozzana's while port, will last me for two or three day yet. I dare say Providence will send me something more by the time this gives out. But could I make my voice heard by all who purpose going abread on the Great Eastern, I would say to them, "Friends, for a week or two before starting, practice.

The most striking feature of this list is certainly the actraordinary proportion of fruit which it includes; the total weight of it consumed per head is almost equal to that of bread. This result is so remarkable that M. Hussen draws attention to it himself, and year into detail to prive its exactness. The quantity of fruit of all kinds annually inbroduced into Paris is 437,000 tons, calculated on the octrol returns for 1803. It may be received with confidence, not withstanding the clingular fact it reveals, that each Parisian consumes one pound of fruit every day of his life. But this quantity atter all represents only a very anall comparative ration of real food, the proportion of water which enters into the chemical composition of fruits being so large that they furnish very little sustenance; their great offect is to redresh rather than atreagtion. loyalty.

The charge that has come upon our city, the new front exposed to the friends of the rebels in this city, and all through the North means something, as taose will speedily learn who are so daring as to test its reality.

We write this in warning, to some in this city who have stiempted to achieve a notoriety they could gain in no other way, by outspoken treason. There will be examples made of these who decline the test. No hostillity to the Government will be protected by any one's position of standing in this city. Let this be understood. Let those who deem the simple and easy test too severe, make up their minds and their baggage for a hegira over the border. Loyal citizens in Chicago have begun a loyal work that they will carry through.

The Monroe Street Improvement.
We learn that a protest is being prepared for presentation at the next Common Council meeting, against the report of the Committee of the Council which was adverse to the wish of some of the property owners on that street to pave the street with Joliet gravel. The facts are, the question of improvement applic to seven hundred and fifty feet of the mo central and most important thoroughfare of this city, made so by the location and comple tion of the new Custom House, Of this the city must pay for the improvement of one hun-dred and eighty feet, and so has certainly a voice in this ma

In this matter.

Besides this, the property owners did not move for any improvement at all, and now, that it is forced upon them, they seek to accept the cheapest. It must not be permitted. Let this short extent of street be finished in the best manner, and at once. Without any expense to the owners of property on that street, or, at least, any they will be willing to expense to the owners of property on that street, or, at least, any they will be willing to confess, their street was advanced from third rate to first rate property. It is to-day worth three times what it would be were the Post Office several squares nearer the heart of the city. This beling so, it is the height of mean-ness to seek to force upon fac city a street im-provement of a kind excellent in its proper place, on residence streets, but entirely proper for a thoroughfare of this importan-tet the City Fathers insist that neither Me. um or Jollet gravel are suitable for this few core rods of street which should be immed ately finished, in the best possible style, with Nicholson or block stone. Let us have no pennywise folly in this matter. The whole stion is one of less than $5,000, not enough to pay for slighting it.

Southern's Benefit.

An extraordinary fine entertainment will be presented at McVicker's Theater this evening, for the benefit of Mr. Sothern. A new piece written by himself entitled "Suspense," which has been spoken of in terms of high praise by the Eastern press, will be presented for this night only, as Mr. S. leaves the city immediately, on his may be Enroce. He will immediately, on his way to Europe. He will also appear as "Dundreary" in Tom Taylor's comedy of "Our American Cousins," and terin the celebrated skating carnival. OF PROFEST DESTROYED—OUTRAGEOUS IN-CENDIANSM.—We regret to hear that fire broke out in the post-office, in this city, yes-terday, in which, before it was subdued, nearly two hundred thousand stamps and stamped envelopes were destroyed—in value nearly seven thousand five hundred dollars. The fire reged four hours before it was sub-dued.

P. 8. Later advices, as the Washington correspondents say, render it highly probable that this destruction of stamps was caused by Judge Sloane, special agent of the P. O. De the Stamps and the P. O. De the Stamps and the P. O. De the Stamps and the Stam Judge Slosne, special agent of the pariment, whose business now-a-days seems to be to travel about the country and destroy by fire all the stamps and envelopes of the old patterns, first taking an accurate account

In the afternoon the carpet bag was found in an adjoining lumber yard rified of its contents, consisting of the Dr.'s clothing and a large number of letters and packages from friends at home to boys in camp. Very many letters were opened, and if they contained anything of value, the contents were appro-pristed. The officers, after obtaining posses-sion of the letters, redirected and forwarded them to the Dr. last evening. No clue has been found to the thieves.

THE NATIONAL LOAN:—The eagernees with which the Government Loan is taken by the people is described as follows in the money article of yesterday's New York Hereld?

It is now shouldn't evident that the new national loan will be a success. Over a hundred persons apply daily for Treasury notes at the office of the Sub-Treasurer in this city, and pay in their money, in gold in amounts fraging from $50 to $20.000. The banks are overwhelmed with applications of the same kind from country and city corresponding to the same kind from country and city corresponding to the same kind from country and income, and to be withdrawing their money from savings banks and private based, and lending it to the Government. A good effect has been produced by the ungrincipled effects of the organs et his littles in Government, in the loops of discredding republicant for the private based in rightening foresigners and debarring Roglishmen from the privilege offered them by the negotiation of the new loan, it is quite evident that they will produce a contrary effect here, where the nature of our devernment and the principles which underlie our sational credit are generally understood.

FORMION EXCHANGE IN NEW YORK.—The Times #378:
